

Building Wrap-Around Community Supports for People with Dual Diagnosis and Aggressive Behavior

People with disabilities in crisis affect all those around them. Too often, the focus is on developing behavior plans, using medications or institutionalization.

This discussion will focus on behavior as communication. We must be willing to look at where people live, with whom they live, and other related issues.

Participants will be challenged to change their behavior as well.