Many people do not realize the importance of the work we do every day. This presentation will challenge participants to erase old tapes that limit our vision, and get us into ruts. Challenges, opportunities and possibilities will be explored. Participants will learn:

- We can choose to predict the future or invent it.
- How we are all dealt our own deck of cards
- The difference between residual light and first light
- The difference between management and leadership
- How one person can make a difference
- Being gentle in a violent world
